Volunteers may resign from their role by providing written notice to the Commissioner's Office. Resignation notices should be submitted at least two weeks in advance to allow for a smooth transition.

The Office of Commissioner Peak reserves the right to terminate a volunteer's participation if they fail to comply with office policies, engage in misconduct, or demonstrate behavior that is not in alignment with the office's mission. Decisions regarding termination will be made fairly and may involve discussions with the volunteer prior to final action being taken.

By participating in the Office of Commissioner Peak's volunteer program, all individuals acknowledge and agree to adhere to these policies and procedures. Failure to comply with these guidelines may result in corrective action or dismissal from volunteer service.
